In a typical low-cost shared hosting environment memory and cpu resources are severely restricted, causing database errors and connection timeouts. Dedicated servers are not much better as you're limited to the hardware of a single machine. Netfirms Enterprise gives you virtually unrestricted dedicated memory and cpu resources, load balanced over an entire cluster of servers. This means no more database connection timeouts, slow page loads or resource errors, ever!

Netfirms Enterprise is unique because your web services are load balanced across multiple servers. As traffic to your website increases more and more mirror servers are automatically added to the server cluster, ensuring that your website is delivered ultra-fast no matter how busy it is. This has the added benefit of built in hardware failover and redundancy, which translates into an always on, always fast hosting platform.
